

A Heartfelt Cry for Deliverance and Protection from Evil Spirits

Inspired by the prayer of Jehoshaphat

O Lord, God of my fathers,

Are You not God in heaven, the Mighty One who rules over every principality, every dominion, every throne of darkness and light?

There is no spirit, no demon, no force of evil that can stand before Your throne.

In Your hand are all power and all might, and there is none who can withstand
You!

You are the Deliverer of Your people.

You are the One who drove out giants and fortified nations before Israel.

You are the same yesterday, today, and forever—

The covenant-keeping God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

You gave Your people a promise, a land, a sanctuary, a Name above every name.

And in this Name—Jesus Christ, the Son of God—I come before You now!

Lord, I am surrounded.

I feel the oppression, the resistance, the invisible attacks.

Evil spirits have come against me like a flood—

Fear, confusion, torment, heaviness, unclean desires, spiritual wickedness—

They threaten to take the territory You have given me.

They want to drive me from Your peace, Your presence, Your purpose.

But I remember Your Word.

You said, “Call upon Me in the day of trouble; I will deliver you, and you shall glorify Me.”

So I stand before You, not in my righteousness, but in the blood of Jesus.

I cry out to You in my affliction.

I lift my voice from this place of battle.

I look not to my own strength, for I have none.

I look to You, O Mighty God! My Defender, my Shield, my Deliverer!

I declare: Your name is in this house—this temple—this body, bought with the blood of Jesus.

I am Your possession, Your inheritance.

This enemy is not just coming against me—they are coming against what belongs to You.

They come to steal, kill, and destroy.

But I belong to the One who came that I might have life, and life more abundantly.

O God, will You not arise and scatter these enemies?

Will You not stretch out Your hand and rebuke the devourer?

Will You not send forth Your angels like flames of fire to war on my behalf?

I confess, Lord—I do not know what to do.

I have prayed, I have fasted, I have stood.

And still the battle rages.

But my eyes are on You!

You are my Strong Tower.

You are the God who parts the sea.

You are the Lord who trains my hands for war and my fingers for battle.

You are the One who crushes the head of the serpent.

You are the Breaker who goes before me!

So I cry to You:

Deliver me, O Lord!

Rescue me from every evil spirit—every tormentor, every deceiver, every voice of darkness.

Break their power in Jesus' name!

Silence their lies!

Uproot every seed of the enemy sown in my soul, my mind, my life!

I renounce every agreement I've made knowingly or unknowingly with the enemy.

I break every legal right, every foothold, every curse, every access point in Jesus' name!

I plead the blood of Jesus over my life—my spirit, soul, and body.

Let every demon see the blood and flee!

You said, "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you."

I stand my ground today.

I resist!

I declare: the Lord rebuke you, Satan!

Get behind me, in the mighty name of Jesus!

Father, I ask You to surround me with Your holy angels—

Let them encamp around me and deliver me.

Let Your fire be around me as a hedge.

Let Your glory be my rear guard.

Let every weapon formed against me fail,

And let every tongue that rises in judgment be condemned!

Lord, I am weary, but I trust in You.

You are my rest.

You are my strength.

You are my refuge.

You are the lifter of my head.

I will not fear the arrow that flies by day nor the terror that stalks by night.

You are with me.

You fight for me.

And I will praise You even now—before the battle is over—

Because You are faithful.

You are just.

You are the God who hears.

You are the God who saves.

O Lord, rise up!

Let every demonic horde scatter in confusion.

Let every snare be broken.

Let every yoke be destroyed.

Let every generational bondage be shattered.

Let the chains fall to the ground, in Jesus' name!

This battle is not mine, but Yours.

So I rest in Your victory.

I wait for Your deliverance.

I watch with expectation.

For You are the God who never fails.

You are my salvation, my covering, my Father, my King.

And I will testify—yes, I will glorify You—

Because You will hear and You will save.

You will deliver me from evil.

You will preserve me from the snare of the fowler and the deadly pestilence.

You will cover me with Your feathers, and under Your wings I will find refuge.

O God, arise and deliver me now!

For Your name's sake.

For Your glory.

In the name of Jesus Christ, the Son of the Living God, I pray.

Amen and amen.
